

Who we are

TeamHealth grew from a small company established by emergency medicine physicians to a national group of more than 16,000 clinicians and a leader in clinical integration. With clinicians providing care in emergency medicine, hospital medicine, critical care and a number of other specialties nationwide, we believe our teams work better together.

TeamHealth emergency medicine

When you join our team as an emergency medicine clinician, you will practice in an integrated care environment where emergency medicine and hospital medicine teams work together to reach goals and provide optimal patient care. As part of our nationwide network of more than 16,000 clinicians, you will have access to more than 40 years of knowledge and expertise in emergency medicine—plus, a network of world-class physician leaders, mentors and colleagues.

Further your career

We're dedicated to helping clinicians grow their careers, their way. Whether you aspire to grow into a leadership role or want to leave administrative burdens behind, we're committed to supporting your career path. The TeamHealth Institute helps you practice at your best with leadership training and technologies that streamline your practice experience.

All the bells and whistles

To attract the best, we make sure clinicians have manageable caseloads and the right resources to ensure patients receive the best possible care.

Our resources include:

- Grow into local, regional and national leadership roles
- Leadership development
- Administrative support to achieve your ideal work-life balance
- LiveWell WorkLife services assist with everything from burnout to financial planning
